For many years I was raised to think of religion or faith as the belief in certain doctrines or dogmatic assertions. It is true that every Sunday we say the Apostles' Creed and we begin with the words I believe. We are a church that does believe in certain truths written in the form of creeds, or intellectual claims.

Recently I saw a quote by William Sloane Coffin: I think we know far more of God's heart than we do know of the mind of God. I can remember lots of hours spent arguing over things like the inerrancy of Scripture, the Virgin birth, the historicity of various stories and books in the Bible as well as of various people who inhabit the Biblical narrative. For example, did Abraham really live; how do we talk about the Resurrection when we know that dead people are dead, no matter how much we want them to be alive?

There are places in the United States and the world where people want to have an absolute belief system that appears to have no room for doubt. Many years ago, on a trip to Turkey, visiting the churches of the Book of Revelation, I traveled with a group of ministers and their spouses who were from a denomination called Evangelical Free. Many of them had left the ELCA, of which we are a member. They wanted something more certain. Certainty is not something that we can manufacture, especially when we are dealing with faith that requires doubt to truly be faith.

Getting back to the quote that asserted knowing more of God's heart than God's mind, I find this to be quite comforting. Where other Christians may find it discouraging, I take heart in the fact that the real revelation is in discovering the love of God.

Sometimes we find ourselves in faith, and we don't know how we got there. We are just thankful that we are not lost anymore and that we have a healing message that can change our hearts and lives.

In the past, the Christian religion at times lost its way and even distorted the teachings of Jesus. The Inquisition is a case in point, where the Roman Catholic Church forced people to be baptized and to believe certain church doctrines to be true or else be executed. Martin Luther risked his life to go against Church doctrine that he felt was not only oppressive but totally wrong. Today, we see the same thing with ISIS that beheads the infidels and demands total allegiance to its religious beliefs. Here again, a religion is hijacked and fashioned in ways that are cruel, oppressive, and just outright wrong.

Sometimes we become the same way, when we find ourselves not accepting others and wanting to turn to absolute belief systems. In the past these rigid and perverted interpretations of Christian faith led to people being burnt at the stake, witch hunts, and wars, along with personal guilt and unthinkable conformity. This forced compliance takes away Christian freedom and authentic ways of questioning our faith. It also removes the welcome mat for those strangers who wish to join our fellowship. We are not here to examine their heart, but to show them the heart of God.

It's unfortunate that today Christians think in their search for certainty that what they believe is the absolute truth. In essence, we can't know the mind of God. As my wife, who is a teacher, would say: "The Why questions are not helpful."

In essence, when it comes to knowing God, Christians look to Jesus. Jesus is our window into God's activity in the world. Jesus shows us the heart of God, especially when he journeys to the cross. Lent is about such a journey. I don't find it helpful trying to prove that God exists. God doesn't need for us to do that, but God needs us to be beacons of hope, healing, reconciliation and, yes, love. This is the heart of God.

FREED & RENEWED IN CHRIST REFORMATION500@ST.JOHN'S

2017 is the 500th anniversary of the Lutheran Reformation. The Evangelical Lutheran Church in America's is using "Freed & Renewed in Christ" as the overall theme in its observance of the anniversary. It is based on Martin Luther's "The Freedom of a Christian" (1520) in which he wrote " A Christian is a lord of all, completely free of everything; a Christian is a servant, completely attentive to the needs of all." This theme expresses the Christian faith's freedom and a renewed service to others in Jesus Christ.

The Church Council hopes to roll out activities throughout the year to deepen our understanding of the significance of the Reformation in its historical context and in today's world.

For the Lenten season, we encourage the following, to understand and to serve others:

1. Let us attend the Ecumenical Lenten Services. Specifically, please commit to attending at least one service in addition to the one in St. John's.
2. Please consider supporting the special Lenten Offering to the August Victoria Hospital in Palestine.

Your Church Council

Special Lenten offering

Pastor Henk has recently returned from Jerusalem where he personally saw the tremendous need to help the poorest of the poor in Palestine.

We are so fortunate to have a Lutheran presence in Jerusalem. Augusta Victoria Hospital, located on the top of the Mount of Olives, is run by the Lutheran World Federation and provide services for Christians and Arab refugees, mostly on a charitable basis. It has experienced financial crisis after financial crisis, which almost forced it to close its doors.

There is no question that this hospital reaches out and touches the lives of countless people who live in poverty and who have no other access to specialized care for diabetes, cancer, dialysis, children. The hospital has also recently been making efforts to establish a palliative care facility as well as a care center for the elderly. The work being done by August Victoria is inspiring, but the hospital needs a lot of help.

If you would like to contribute a Lenten offering to this cause, please write your check to St. John's Lutheran Church and put August Victoria hospital on the memo line. Thank you for your support of Augusta Victoria's important work.

CELEBRATING THE REFORMATION

On October 31 many people celebrate Halloween. In the church October 31 is All Hallows' Eve, or the Eve of All Saints Day. It was on that day in 1517 that Martin Luther nailed what we know as the 95 theses on the door of the castle church in Wittenberg. The theses could not be read by most people because they were in Latin, but those who heard them translated into German hardly realized that this would become the beginning of a revolution within the Catholic Church.

It was a bold act of courage because Luther, a priest/ professor could have been excommunicated from the Church by Johann Tetzel, a famous seller of indulgences. In fact, Tetzel's "marketing jingle" was Every time a coin in the coffer rings, a soul from Purgatory springs.

For those who don't know what indulgences are, they are a paper, or letter, of pardon from the Pope to all who needed forgiveness from sins, including those who had already died and were in Purgatory. Luther was against having to pay for any type of forgiveness because in his view forgiveness is a free gift from God through Christ. Later on, Luther would write, "If the Pope has the power to forgive sins, why doesn't he open up Purgatory and Hell for free?"

While the 95 Theses were meant for scholarly debate and discussion, they were received far more widely by the people due to the invention of the printing press in the middle of the 15th century. Luther's supporters reprinted the theses, and soon they spread all over the world. The common people cheered him on while the Church began to grow angrier and angrier. To be continued.

This is the first of a series of installments about the life and work of Martin Luther. There will be several more to come over this coming year as we observe the 500th anniversary of the Reformation. MEH

Martin Luther's Morning Prayer

I thank You, my heavenly Father, through Jesus Christ, Your dear Son, that You have kept me this night from all harm and danger; and I pray that You would keep me this day also from sin and every evil, that all my doings and life may please You. For into Your hands I commend myself, my body and soul, and all things. Let Your holy angel be with me, that the evil foe may have no power over me. Amen

Martin Luther's Evening Prayer

I thank You, my heavenly Father, through Jesus Christ, Your dear Son, that You have graciously kept me this day; and I pray that You would forgive me all my sins where I have done wrong, and graciously keep me this night. For into Your hands I commend myself, my body and soul, and all things. Let Your holy angel be with me, that the evil foe may have no power over me. Amen

SUNDAY SCHOOL

During the beginning of our second semester we have been overtaken on Sundays with bad weather and illness causing many of our children to miss classes. We are looking forward to better weather and fewer germs so all can return - we really have missed them.

The Jr. Choir sang for the congregation on February 19th and they sounded just wonderful. We all just love watching them sing as they look just like sweet cherubs. Thanks again to Becky and Matthew for leading our Sunday School Jr. Choir.

Upcoming Events:

In preparation for their First Holy Communion, classes for our 4th graders have tentatively been scheduled to begin on April 26th. With Pastor they will learn what it means to come to the Lord's Table; that as a "means of grace", God's forgiveness is freely given. Date for their First Communion is June 4th.

Our Sunday school Lenten sacrifice project has yet to be determined.

The children will participate in an April 9th Palm Sunday skit with the Colón and Brandon families leading us in song. We did something like this a few years ago and will be expanding this skit to include the whole congregation.

On April 14th we will have our Good Friday children's program at the Church from 9:30am until 12 noon. All children age three through 4th grades are invited to attend and together we will have some fun along with instruction on the meaning of Easter.

The children are welcome to bring a friend; just let me know soon so I have enough material on hand.

On Easter Sunday, April 16th, we host an Easter Egg Hunt for all children through 4th grade. The hunt is held in between the two Easter morning services on the lawn. We have bags for each child.

As you can see, there are a lot of events coming up and we hope to see all at each one.

Children's Corner:

A few Sundays ago Felipe Gómez, who team-teaches in the 5th and 6th grade classes, was supposed to be in the city in the morning for his school's concert rehearsal. This young man informed his teacher that he couldn't make it until Sunday School class was over because he had a responsibility to his students and he didn't want to miss the opportunity to teach. It's humbling to think his Sunday school teachers may have had a hand in helping his parents raise this fine young man to be the thoughtful, loving and dedicated individual he is today. It's those little seeds we all help to plant!

With all of God's Blessings,

When you look at a French menu and it says Soupe du jour, it's one soup. But this was not the case on Ash Wednesday, when we had soupes du jour, and our member showed off their great cooking skills. We were blessed with many delicious soups that could compete with any French restaurant. Thank you to those who brought soup and other foods: Heike Rauls brought Butternut Squash, James and Megan Aquilina Tuscan Cabbage with Sausage, Karen Guinee Tortellini soup, Pastor Henk brought chili, Suomi Sakai and John Quinley brought Vegetable Miso with Tofu, Shane and Stacy Gallagher Corn Chowder with Gnocchi, Rebecca Gómez Carrot Ginger, Tina Franceschini brought potato soup, Jeanhee Chung brought mushroom stew as well as home-made bread, the Schiros brought Caesar salad and bread and butter, the Guinees brought bread, Judy Musumeci brought salad, Margaret Knowlton a pasta veggie salad. If we have missed anybody's contribution, we are very sorry indeed! A big thank you to Marc Schlueter, who organized the reception and bought of all the supplies. We did like the purple table cloths matching the season... Our Ash Wednesday evening service was highlighted by guest preacher, the Rev. Dr. Timothy Kennedy as well as the beautiful music by our choir under the direction of our organist and music director, Matthew Thomas. A big thank you goes to our lay readers, Jim Wills, Megan Aquilina, John Koenig, and Jeff Schiro as well as Felipe Gómez, who read the lessons.

Karen Haghenbeck, our Music & Worship chair, deserves a hearty thanks for showing up to set up and make preparations for the service even though she was not feeling well. Sarah Coble's Ash Wednesday banner hung proudly, emphasizing the day. A thank you goes to the confirmation students Ruben Gómez, Eric Hoffmann, Linus Ringstad, Madison Schiro, and Amelie Schlueter for reading prayers as well as helping at the dinner... A film recommendation from Carla & Brian Hofland is "I Am Not Your Negro", a movie that chronicles the words and life of author James Baldwin. It's a refreshing way to look at the issue of race through an insightful lens of this skilled man of letters... It was great to see Christine Hardigree's mom visiting on a Sunday morning. She comes from the warmth of Texas but says she loves the cold of New York - now that is interesting! By the way, Christine and Matt recommend the FDR Museum in Hyde Park in the Hudson Valley. If you are going there, you should stop for lunch at the Beekman Arms in Rhinebeck, a grand historic site that takes you back 200 years or so... Speaking of parents, also in church recently were Marie Flores' mom and dad... We are glad that Tommy Maloney is recuperating from recent surgery - we spotted him at the Ash Wednesday Soup & Salad Dinner. He, too, enjoyed the fine culinary delights in the grand art of soup cooking... It's good to see MaryAnn and Jim MacLellan back from sunny Florida. But why come back when you face temperatures in the 30s here?... Guess who is thinking of going to seminary? Johanna Perry. Isn't that wonderful? Another daughter of the congregation goes into the ministry - congrats and good luck!.. Chris and Keri Degroote were in church sporting sun tans from Mexico. We are sure that the Riviera Mayan is not the same after their stay... next page

Diana and Jurrien Swarts welcomed a baby daughter named Annekari Gloria on February 22. She weighed in at 7lbs.15 oz. Mother and baby are well. Congratulations to the parents and the grandparents, Barbara and Peter Roggemann!

ASTRO

St. John's Bible Study on Thursday had a very unique member. He was Astro "Wunderhund", who came with his mistress, Pat Ouwerkerk, to study The Word, but most of the time he slept and snored. One has to respect him because most people listening to Pastor Henk would like to do the same. (They have learned to sleep with their eyes open.) Seriously, Astro was a great dog and companion to Pat and Jon, her husband. Astro even participated in a children's sermon in church. Pat, during her time at St. John's, taught us to love and care for animals and to see that animals are people, too, and have the same rights. Sadly, Astro died recently at age 17, and our sympathy is with his masters, Pat and Jon.

... Speaking of warm places, Carolynn and Robert Dilworth are back from Turks & Caicos, and Erika Gard returned from Puerto Rico... John Quinley is back from India and can share stories with Pastor Henk... We were pleased to host the first of a series of Ecumenical Lenten services taking place in our community. St. John's set the bar high as the church was filled and our organist and music director, Matthew Thomas, led our choir and the congregation in wonderful music that highlighted the service, which was written by Pastor Henk. We had a great turnout of clergy, who all participated. Pastor Karen Ann Burger of Mamaroneck United Methodist Church gave the sermon. Marc Schlueter, along with Steve Michaelson, Detlef Joerss, Johanna Perry, Dorothea Ferri, Lori Uhle, and Pastor Henk set up for the reception. Thank you to all who contributed to the reception! We look forward to the remaining services at the other churches. It's a great way to observe Lent... Our organist, Matthew Thomas, has an organ recital on April 6 at 7 pm at West End Collegiate Church, 245 West 77th Street in Manhattan. All are welcome!... One Saturday evening in February Kurt Coble, Russell Brandon, Joe and Angelina Colón jammed together for the first Coffee House at the Mamaroneck Artists Guild in Larchmont! It was Latin American fusion, and we hope to let you know in advance when the next Coffee House will take place. Our own Carolynn Dilworth of Auray Gourmet provided an array of her gourmet cheeses to this special evening... Speaking of coffee, Silvia Misina makes a really good cup - maybe we should sign her up for more coffee hours (when she is not substituting for Pastor Henk... We were happy to see Jim Wills in town and church, here for a brief visit from Oshkosh, WI. It's always great to have Jim with us as he is usually taking care of his mother and father back home... Eleanore McCaffery was spotted at the Ecumenical Lenten service, along with friend and neighbor Terri LaRocco... What a great teacher Yourha Kang is - find out at Adult Forum!

IN PRAISE OF WOMEN

I read that the lights on the Statue of Liberty recently went out for several hours. Yes, the lady in the harbor, who welcomes all who are oppressed and seeking to breathe free, was left standing in the dark. As I saw this, I wondered what would happen without the women in our lives. Those who have loved us when we were infants, those who have enriched us, cared for us, taught us, inspired us, accepted us - the list goes on. To me this day is a day of appreciation, helping all of us realize what the world would be like without women in it. I shutter to think of my life without the contributions that so many women have made to make me a better person.

We all know that we all have to go further when it comes to recognizing the contributions that women have made to the betterment of our world. We need to champion women's rights to equality in all walks of life. There is no place in our world for any woman to be abused and held back from achieving the fulfillment they need in their lives.

Jesus always championed women, whether they were widows grieving a child, or prostitutes that he defended. It was, after all, women who first believed the story of the Resurrection and shared it.

The following song by John Lennon, entitled For the Other Half of the Sky, expresses the way I feel about the women who have touched my life. I hope you, too, will enjoy it as you observe this day.

*Woman, I can hardly express,
My mixed emotion at my thoughtlessness,
After all I'm forever in your debt,*

*And woman, I will try to express,
My inner feelings and thankfulness,
For showing me the meaning of success,*

*Woman, I know you understand
The little child inside the man,
Please remember my life is in your hands,*

*And, woman, hold me close to your heart,
However distant don't keep us apart,
After all it is written in the stars.*

*Woman, please let me explain,
I never meant to cause you sorrow or pain,
So let me tell you again and again and again,*

I love you now and forever.
